What Is CBD?

CBD is one of 85+ cannabinoids found in the cannabis plant. THC is the one everyone has heard about, as it's the most prevalent. The second one is CBD - it does not possess the same psychoactive properties that THC does. Therefore, you can safely apply or consume CBD without any mental impairment!

Reasons to use CBD:

CBD is Naturally Occurring In Your Body

You and every other mammal is equipped with an endocannabinoid system whose sole purpose to maintain equilibrium, or homeostasis, in the body. CBD nourishes this system.

CBD Doesn't Get You High

CBD is one of 85+ cannabinoids found in the cannabis plant. THC is the one everyone has heard about, as it's the most prevalent. The second one is CBD - it does not possess the same psychoactive properties that THC does. Therefore, you can safely apply or consume CBD without any mental impairment.

CBD Boosts Your Overall Health

Because these molecules are already produced by your body, what you're really doing is bolstering the total amount. This increase gives your body the tools to clean, repair, improve, and strengthen all of your physiological systems.

Daily Use Is Beneficial Whether You're Healthy or Sick

A daily CBD regimen will deliver exponential benefits as compared to sporadic or occasional usage. If you need help choosing the best type of CBD for you, check out of CBD Dosage Guide that covers different salves and tinctures.

CBD Relieves Joint Pain, Anxiety, Insomnia, Fibromyalgia and More

A wide range of studies have shown that CBD is a great anti-inflammatory molecule that offers relief from these symptoms.

CBD Oil Does Not Show Up On Drug Tests

Drug tests are designed to test for the presence of THC in the system. That means that patients using CBD products derived from hemp, which contains less than 0.3% THC, will not test positive on a drug test even with regular use. The THC levels in CBD products, like those from Ambarly Gardens, are negligible and would not show up in a drug test.

You Don't Need a Doctor or Medical Card

You do not need a medical card to purchase CBD. While you will be able to get very high quality CBD products from medical dispensaries in legal states, it's also completely possible to purchase CBD online without specific medical reasoning.

It's Impossible To Overdose

CBD is non-toxic, meaning no fatal overdose levels have ever been reported. It has been tested up to 1,500 mg/day - way more than they average person would take!

CBD Oil is Legal in All 50 states

The DEA finally relented and admitted that both possession and consumption of CBD oil is legal.

CBD comes in 3 forms.....Pills, Topical, Drops(to be taken under the tongue)
